BABES PERILED IN NIGHT FIRE; KEY SHOPS FOR RICHMOND?

MOTHER AND CHILDREN IN CLOSE CALL IN 6TH ST. BLAZE

Prompt action of the husband and father saved his wife and four little tots from death in a fire which practically destroyed the frame cottage at 389 Sixth street, about 11 o'clock last night.

John Benich, owner of the house, with his little family occupied the cottage. When he was tucking the kiddies into bed he detected the presence of fire, and hastily removed them, barely having time to do so. They, with their mother, who is expecting a visit from the Stork very soon, were taken into homes of their neighbors for the night.

The Richmond fire department responded promptly, but the cottage, which is an old style one, was readily inflammable, and was damaged about $350, a like damage being suffered on the furniture and contents. Both are reported to be covered by insurance.

The fire is believed to have originated from the kitchen range in some manner not fully determined.

ODD FELLOWS' BIG BENEFIT FEB 22

Washington's Birthday is going to be celebrated in Richmond by numerous patriotic bodies and fraternal organizations.

One of the most elaborate and pretentious events on the social calendar is the big benefit whist party and dance to be given at Pythian Castle for the benefit of the Odd Fellows' Hall Association.

Preparations are under way for a program which will appeal to all sorts of folks. There will be animated games of whist, the incentive being valuable merchandise orders. A brilliant musical melange will delight music lovers.

And there also will be some lively orchestration of late and alluring fox trots for the dance-mad. Maybe the famous "Boardwalk" will be given a try-out.

The door prize will be a monster ham, smoked and juicy, fit for the board of a prince or a potentate.

Mrs. David Gross is chairman of the committee, and reports that tickets are going fast.

Y. M. I. Dance Plans For Y. L. I. Progress

Plans for the big ball to be given by the Y. M. I. in East Shore Park on March 18th, for the Y. L. I. were discussed at the meeting of the former in Pythian Castle last evening.

McKinley Lodge Confers 3rd Degree

At the regular meeting of McKinley lodge, F. & A. M., last evening the Third degree was conferred, E. A. Martin presiding.

Martinez Says S. P. Rates To S. F. Not Fair

Discrimination against the town of Martinez by the Southern Pacific is charged in a petition filed yesterday with the State Railroad Commission by the town's attorneys, asking a cut in passenger fares to Oakland and San Francisco.

Greater fares are charged by the railroad for travel between Martinez and Oakland and San Francisco than from Bay Point, Pittsburg and Antioch, it is alleged, notwithstanding that these last named towns are farther than Martinez from San Francisco.

The petition also asks that a lower commutation rate be established between Martinez and Richmond and between Martinez and Berkeley or Oakland. At the present time one commutation rate is charged for travel between Martinez and Richmond, Berkeley and Oakland.

Juveniles of Wesley M. E. Church Will Hold Rally

A large number of Epworth League workers from Oakland, Berkeley, Pinole and Point Richmond will be present at Wesley Methodist church on the evening of March 2 for a big rally when the cabinet members of the High School Epworth League of Wesley Methodist church will be hosts.

There was a meeting of the cabinet members at Wesley church last night when a great deal of important business was transacted. Six new members were accepted. They are: Hilma Johnson, Veryl Waite, Verna Kemp, Gladys Kaylor, James Hudson and Fred Geach.

Large Number Attracted

Probably six visitors will be present for the rally in March, and the visitors will have charge of the games and other entertainment under the supervision of Rev. Paul Little.

The high school cabinet is a young organization, but has made rapid strides since it was formed.

The following committees were named last night for the rally: Decorations, Carmen Vestal, Ethel Vestal, Gladys Banner, Claire Maliani, Marcia Dilman, Fred Whittlesey, Ralph Beebe, Sydney Roberts, Lee Brown and Walter Black. Refreshments, Ruby Williams, Florence Little, Siddie Cushing, Verna Kemp, Hilma Johnson, Isadore Lucas, Reba Sanders and Cleora Hosking.

Officers Installed By Native Sons

Richmond Parlor, Native Sons of the Golden West, met last night and installed officers for the ensuing year. District Deputy Grand President A. T. Souza, of Alameda, acted as installing officer. Officers installed were president, R. E. Coffey; junior past president, L. G. Pinder; first vice president, H. D. Mason; second vice president, R. Coleman; third vice president, George Black; marshal, Gus Miller; trustee, H. D. Mason; surgeon, Dr. C. R. Blake; outside sentinel, Emmett Hitchcock; inside sentinel, Charles Swartout; secretary, R. H. Cunningham; treasurer, A. J. Summers.

SCHOOL BOYS IN OPEN BOAT BATTLE WITH WIND, WAVE

Two ten-year-old grammar school boys had a harrowing half hour yesterday morning when their lives were placed in jeopardy as they battled with wind and water in the inner harbor at the foot of Third street, their craft being an open row boat.

Grammar School Lads

The boys, Frank Burt Fulenwider, of 115 Ohio street, and Charles Russell, of 915 Florida, with several companions from the Nystrom grammar school, being dismissed when the school suspended for the day because of the inadequate heating facilities, were strolling along the canal when they espied a frail little open row boat. The spirit of adventure asserted itself: the lads stepped into the boat. Soon high waves, driven by the gale, snapped the rope that moored the craft to the mainland, and it rapidly was driven into high seas.

The tykes became frightened and sounded an alarm that attracted the police. Fortune favored the boys and when the police rushed to the scene a friendly wind had blown them back to the shohe.

Tykes Rigid and Frightened

The boys were drenched and were almost rigid with cold, not to mention a mental state bordering on collapse from fright.

Frank Burt Fulenwider is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Fulenwider. His father is assistant yardmaster of the Santa Fe in Richmond and is chairman of the California State Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. The boy is named after this great uncle, Frank Burt, of Long Beach and Los Angeles, and who was director of congessions at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

Mrs. Fulenwider told the Record-Herald last night that another experience similar to that of yesterday is farthest from the desire of a maternal heart.

Newlyweds Return From Honeymoon

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Karp, whose marriage was a happy event here January 29, have returned from a honeymoon spent in Southern California, and have taken apartments at the Myrtle Apartments, Fifth and Bissell. Mrs. Karp before her marriage was Miss Blanche Abraham.

Liberty Yeomen To Hold Meeting Tonight

Liberty Homestead of Yeomen will entertain Olive Homestead and Oakland Homestead this evening and all Yeomen are invited to attend. The committee consists of Bert Headley, Ida Williams, Gloria Rasmussen, Anna Sullivan, Vivian Lascelle and Viola Healey.

AMERICAN LEGION TONIGHT

The American Legion will meet in Odd Fellows' Hall at 8 o'clock this evening.

Music Memory Awards Made To School Pupils

MARTINEZ, Feb. 9.—Miss Bertha Weber, county music director in the schools, announced that the first awards in the music memory contest being conducted in five schools of the county were made yesterday to music pupils in the local grammar schools.

In the four upper grades of the school out of 159 contestants, Miss Weber states, 79 won prizes or awards. Of the 79 there were 35 students who made perfect scores, for which they will be awarded phonograph records and books on the lives of musicians.

Certificates of merit for unusual appreciation and memory of music will be awarded the other 44 qualifying. The other schools in the county in the contest are Pittsburg, Antioch and Brentwood.

Dr. F. Leslie Blowers Fills Pulpit Of The First Baptist Church

There was a large attendance at the evangelistic services at the First Baptist church last night. Dr. F. Leslie Blowers was at his best and preached a powerful sermon from the text, "Ye Are My Witnesses."

Dr. Blowers is making many friends and his messages are timely and helpful.

There will be services every night at 7:45, including Saturday, and twice on Sunday. There will also be meetings every evening next week.

A cordial invitation is extended to all the citivens of Richmond to attend the services.

Dr. Blowers is from Visalia.

T. F. B. Guests Of Mrs. Schultz At Weekly Whist

Mrs. Albert Shults, 423 C street, was hostess to the weekly whist party of the Fraternal Brotherhood last night. The prize winners were: Ladies' first, Mrs. Henry Bill; second, Mrs. Gloria Rasmussen; consolation, Mrs. Dolores Bates; most sixes, Mrs. E. Shafer. Gentlemen's first, Henry Trautvetter; second, E. Shafer; consolation, J. Ayers.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Cora Newell, 518 Macdonald avenue.

C. R. BEATTY IS SICK

C. R. Beatty, president of the Building Trades Council, is suffering from an attack of grippe at his home.

Bright Lights On White Way Will Put Ban On Lovers

Richmond's White Way soon will be an actuality.

Macdonald avenue will afford poor opportunity for spooning couples, and will serve to deter bandits in enterprises along its course along about May Day when the "juice" is released to illuminate the electroliers.

The great steel poles to support the system are being got in position and look as dressy as a member of Princess Pat's Own regiment on parade.

The installation of the globes is a matter of a few weeks.

The Western States Gas and Electric Company are installing the system.

Y BANQUETS IN TWO CHURCHES WILL ATTRACT 600 PEOPLE

The stage is all set for the All-Richmond banquets to be given simultaneously tonight in two of the city's churches under the auspices of the Richmond Young Men's Christian Association.

The "Y" for many days past has bent every energy to insure a maximum of enjoyment and a minimum of friction.

The function really is one of the most ambitious undertakings of its kind in the history of Richmond.

Six Hundred Banqueters

There probably will be six hundred people to sit down tonight in the two churches. And the assemblages will be strong not only in numbers but in uniqueness of personnel. It is the night when Father and Son and Big Brother get together in a real, honest fraternization.

O yes, the eats will be a feature.

Growing boys with ravenous appetites simply crave and require solid food. They must have it. They'll get it.

But the meetings have other phases than temporal.

The programs follow:

At the Presbyterian church, in cooperation with the Baptist and South Methodists. Toastmaster, Fred L. Newsom.

Richard's orchestra.

Invocation, Rev. W. W. Nunn.

Toast, "Johnny and I as Pals," Dr. W. W. Giberson.

Toast, "Putting Dad Wise," John Rowden.

Orchestra.

Songs.

Address, Will H. Brown, A Boy's Friend.

At the Christian church in cooperation with the Wesley Methodist and the Protestant Episcopal churches, Toastmaster, Aubrey Wilson.

Orchestra.

Invocation, Rev. Blake Hadlow.

Toast, "Dad and I," Paul Wesley Little.

Toast, "To the Boys of Today," Hutt Brown.

Orchestra.

Toast, "The Father of Man," J. E. Zumwalt.

Songs.

Toast "To Our Dads," John Curnow.

Address, Capt. Miles Webb, United States Army.

Tickets for both banquets will be 50 cents instead of 75 cents. Those who already have bought tickets will be refunded 25 cents at the banquet. Extra places are being set for those who might come without tickets.

ROBT. WASHBURN HAS PTOMAINE

Robert Washburn, prominent auto man, has been suffering from an attack of ptomaine poisoning in San Jose. He and Mrs. Washburn had planned to leave this week for their ... fruit ranch near Fresno.

VISITOR HERE FROM ARIZONA

Mrs. W. R. Huston, 609 Sixth street, has as her guest this week, Mrs. James Corcoran of Tucson, Arizona.

Figures Show Great Growth Of Key Traffic

In setting forth claims for federal approval the Key Route people give a brief sketch in a table of figures of the growth which is claimed to warrant their plan being "okeyed" as a step in the development of the bay communities affected.

It is pointed out that from 6.85 miles of track in 1904, with two trains, carrying annually 4,417,077 passengers, the service has grown to 44.38 miles of track, with thirty-two different lines of trains, carrying 15,033,611 passengers last year. The "commuters," or passengers traveling over its lines daily, during the last year numbered 6,554,468, as compared to the 1,549,875 the first year the transbay line started.

L.O. MOOSE DRILL TEAM TO BANQUET

Plans for the banquet and entertainment to be given on Monday by the drill team of the Loyal Order of Moose were completed at the meeting of the lodge last evening. The affair is to celebrate the seventh anniversary of the team's existence, and very special arrangements are being made to make the evening a huge success. The following will serve on the committee of arrangements: Robert Connelly, Joseph Finck, Dan Jasman and W. B. Jenkins.

At the first meeting next month there will be an election of officers and an initiation of fifteen candidates.

Part of the business last evening was the finding of an owner for the typewriter and shotgun belonging to the late Police Officer C. Sprague, who passed away in Madison, Wis. The party presenting number 141 can claim the typewriter and the shotgun will go to number 147. W. B. Jenkins will be glad to hear from parties with those numbers and his phone is Richmond 579.

Log Cabin Circle Gives St. Valentine Dance in W.O.W. Hall

One of the first of the dances to be given in honor of St. Valentine was that of Log Cabin Circle Neighbors of Woodcraft, last night in Woodman hall. Chick Barry's orchestra furnished music for the occasion and the affair was a most enjoyable one. The following ladies served on the committee: Mrs. Bessie Eggerth, Mrs. Emily Wright and Mrs. Gertie Spiersch.

Two Women Will Speak To P. T. A.

Mrs. Painter of Berkeley and Mrs. Butterfield of El Cerrito will address the meeting of the Grant Parent-Teachers' Association this afternoon. Mrs. Cole asks that all members attend.

CARL GEBHARDT RETURNS FROM HOSPITAL

Carl Gebhardt of the Pullman Company, who was operated on about three weeks ago for appendicitis in Craven Hospital by Dr. U. S. Abbott, has been allowed to return to his home, 1927 Chanslor avenue.

BIG TERMINAL SYSTEM MAY CHOOSE SITE IN RICHMOND

Industrial circles in East Bay cities are agog with comment and surmise as to the possibilities that may lie in the plan of the Key System for a shortening of the route to San Francisco.

Sharp Interest Locally

One phase of the situation is fraught with sharp and apparent interest to Richmond: Where will the Key locate their plant for the handling of the rolling stock.

Will Richmond go after this?

It will be a wonderful asset for any community.

Richmond is friendly to the Key System.

The Key System is friendly to Richmond.

Charles F. Donnelly, superintendent, long has been a prominent and popular figure in civic, social and fraternal circles of the city of Richmond.

Richmond Ideal Site

Richmond offers incomparable attractions and inducements in the matter of location for just such a plant as will be required by the Key system in the event that they shall be given sanction by the United States to go forward with the Yerba Buena Island undertaking.

Now seems to be the proper time for the city, through all its civic units, to go after the big game.

In their requests filed with the Navy Department, War Department and Department of Commerce, the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railways asked permission to carry their present tracks via a bridge to the island.

Added Facilities

With the extension of the tracks, added facilities are planned for vehicular traffic.

The island terminus would be constructed to care for all classes of travel. Accommodations would also be provided sufficient to creat a joint union terminus for all lines now running into Oakland.

Two features stand out in the proposed scheme: one the shortening of the running time between the two sides of the bay and the other the concentration of all transcontinental terminus at one common point. As a third possibility the scheme offers the first step in an apparent solution of the "bridge-the-bay" problem.

It was estimated yesterday that the new terminus would cut down the time required in crossing the bay by 10 minutes, at the same time lessening any existing danger from fogs through the shortening of the ferry trip. The advantages of a union terminus for transcontinental and local lines were numerous and of manifold importance to all the communities, it was pointed out yesterday.

C. C. Encampment Met Last Evening

Contra Costa Encampment No. 91, I. O. O. F., met in regular session last night and conferred the Patriarchal degree.

THE FARMER FEEDS US ALL

We hear and read a good deal about what this or that political party or administration has done for the country, how it prospered under McKinley, Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson or somebody else, but the fact is that the country has not prospered because of its laws and government, but in spite of them. Under the administration of the various administrations during the past quarter of a century the country would have gone into the hands of a receiver and half its inhabitants to the poorhouse if it had not been for the farmer. The farmer has raised such prodigious crops that all the machinations of Big Business, Wall street, the politicians and the devil himself could not prevail against it. If you don't believe it, send and get a report from the Secretary of Agriculture, and you will see very plainly. This great country our plows and harvests a cornfield each year much larger than the whole of Italy, and nearly as large as either France or Germany. That cornfield produces over four billion bushels a year.

Now add to this the other wondrous crops of grain, fruit, vegetables, live stock and other products of the farm, and you can understand how the pirates of commerce and plunderers of politics can and do wax fat and rich and yet be unable to get away with only a small portion of it, comparatively. They would take it all if they could, but they can't.

Carl and Zita and Mr. Hohenzollern are living in obscurity. That is also where vice-presidents and the husbands of prominent women live.

These snappy and frosty mornings makes a fellow that is an old hoss feel like he was a young hoss, but of course he just thinks so.

One person of inquiring mind asks how the wild animals manage to live in winter. Easy enough. They don't have to pay 'steen prices for ham and.

While riding over the country either in auto or train, one could admire the scenery more if there were less glaring billboards screaming of Brown's Bile Beans for Bilious Boobs.

Many have asked the meaning of Etaoinshrdlnctaoi??!brzandf? frequently seen in newspapers without any explanation. Well, that is a pie-line, and is matter that lies between the linotype operator, the makeup man and their consciences, if they have any, which is doubtful.

A New York man bought his wife a pearl necklace for a million. He ain't so many! We got a necktie Christmas that makes a louder noise than any old pearl necklace.

Dealers in cold storage eggs are said to have lost ten million dollars last year. We don't know whether that is true, but cordially hope it is.

John D. Rockefeller is getting old, and some day will fade away, and then who will take care of the people's money for them? Probably Morgan will volunteer.

Frost hit the oranges a little in California, but it never touched the politicians. There will also be enough lemons to hand out.

If we had Morgan's billions and our own six-bits amalgamated we would place the earth back on its axis before going up to appear before old St. Peter's investigating committee.

The law of supply and demand regulates all commodities, but it cuts little ice in love or politics.

One dispatch announces that several factions are endeavoring to seize the machinery of the Democratic party. We did not know there was any to seize, except, perhaps, the remains of a battered steam roller left over at the San Francisco convention.

THE BONUS AND TAXATION

The three hundred millions needed for the soldiers' bonus ought to be raised and paid to them, as a matter of common right and justice, but it ought not to be raised by additional taxation of the people, as the people are now taxed until the burden is making anarchists and Bolshevists of millions of them. If you doubt it, go out among them in the big cities and talk with them, and listen to them talking to each other. Simmered down the taxation matter means just this: If you are paying out $100 or $150 a month for living expenses and the support of your family, that sum would be cut in half in the middle if there were no taxation, and you would be paying out $75 or $50 a month, as the case might be. The Government is grabbing 35 or more per cent of all incomes, and you pay every bit of it when you buy anything which you eat, drink, wear or use. The Government takes nearly half the income of the coal combines and the railroads, and so you pay $16 a ton for coal and twice as much for freight on everything you buy that you used to pay, and so on all down the line.

And what does the Government do with the money—five billions a year? It wastes, squanders and burns up fully half of it, keeping millions of political teat-suckers in swivel-chair offices that do not earn the salt on their potatoes. It takes millions more in a thousand different ways. tI pays three times for everything that any business man of ordinary gumption would pay. Every one of us who work and produce is keeping up and supporting another man and his family who produces nothing but red tape, bunk and bull. It does not make a particle of difference whether one party is at the head of the Government or another—the results to the taxpayers and people generally is the same.

The bonus should be paid, but England, France and Italy should be made to pay the past due interest on the money we loaned them to keep them from being butchered, and that money would more than take care of the bonus. Why is it not paid? Because the Shylocks of Wall Street hold hundreds of millions of the bonds of those countries and have decreed that they must be paid first and the Government — the people—shall wait indefinitely. The people simply cannot and will not stand for additional taxation As it is there will be $300,000,000 deficit this year, and the bonus $300,000,00 would double that deficit. Also, in the next year $6,500,000,000 of the public debt falls due. The taxes heaped upon the bowed backs of the people are much too onerous for the country's good.

A number of nasty messes called public attention to the drunkenness, dopyness and degeneracy of movie actors and actresses. On the heels of these came the rotten Arbuckle case. To head off press and public comment the screen people made much denial. And now comes the Hollywood murder. It is too bad somebody can't touch a match to Hollywood and burn it off the face of the earth.

Many turtles live a thousand years, but what good does it do them? We would rather be a human and live fifty years than be a turtle and live a thousand.

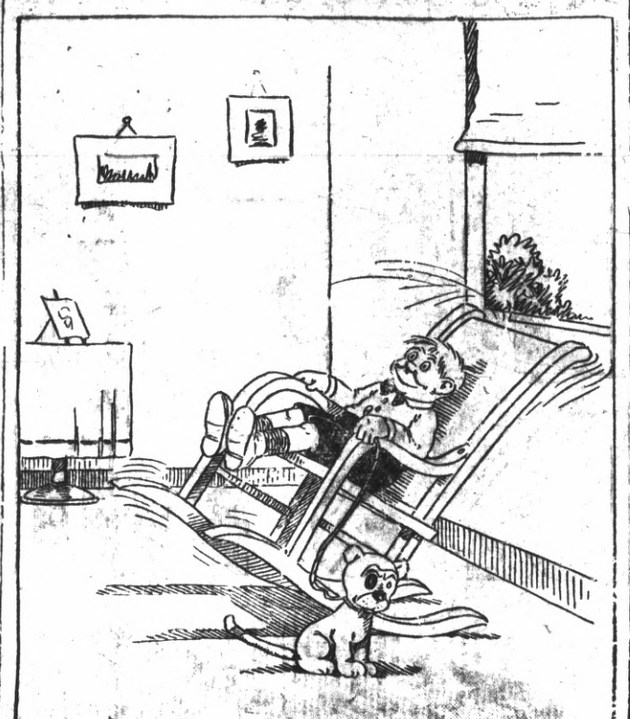

The theories and doctrines of Hearst and Brisbane as to the Japanese is a theory and doctrine of hate. And hate never brought anybody anything yet but harm.

Pay good wages. If the people have money then those who have brains and ability can make money, but nobody can make money when the people have none. Nobody can make any money in India, China or Russia.

Nobody ever said anything about the way we drive a car, except one man, and he did not say much. All he said was $50 and costs.

There is this much in favor of the soldiers' bonus: It will get into instantaneous circulation among the people in general.

-and the Worst is Yet to Come

Three Salvation Army Lasses Are Visiting Richmond

Captain Hay, Captain Wilkins, and Lieutenant Gaynor will be conducting special meetings Saturday and Sunday, February 11 and 12, in the Salvation Army Hall, 1120½ Macdonald avenue.

The first two officers are following in their parents footsteps, their fathers and mothers today being actively engaged as officers in the ranks of the Army.

Fitted to take their place in the business world, yet, when the time came to make their selection as to their vocation in life, knowing full well the hardships and self-denial to be encountered as officers of the Salvation Army, they unhesitatingly made their choice. They would serve humanity.

Special open air services Saturday night and Sunday. Good singing and speaking at all services.

Queries and Answers On Subject Of the Federal Income Law

By NELSON G. WELBURN

Federal Law Advisor and Income Tax Expert. Offices with T. H. De Lap, First National Bank Bldg.

(Questions on the Income Tax addressed to Nelson G. Welburn, care of the Richmond Record-Herald, will be given prompt and careful attention.)

Q. May the expenses of administration of an estate be claimed by the administrator as deductions in computing the estate's liability for income tax?

A. No; expenses of administration of an estate are not allowable as deductions.

Q. In 1920 I bought a patent for $5,000 which, under the patent laws of the United States, has five years to run. As the value of the patent depreciates each year on account of the exhaustion of the patent period, may a deduction be claimed?—C. R.

A. Yes; the cost of th epatent divided by the number of years it yet has to run is the amount which may be claimed each year as depreciation. In your case this amount is $1000.

Q. A indorses a note for B. The latter has since departed for parts unknown. The note became due in 1921, and A was required to make good his endorsement. May he now claim as a deduction the amount paid by him to the creditor?—R. T.

A. Yes.

Q. In rendering my 1921 return I claimed a deduction to cover a debt I then believed to be absolutely worthless. In 1921 the debtor has discharged a part of his obligations. How should I treat this payment for income tax purposes?—E. K.

A. Consider it as an item of income and include the amount in your return.

Q. Am I entitled to a deduction for depreciation of my personal residence, furniture and fixtures therein, and an automobile which I use only for pleasure and recreation?—I. C.

A. No; depreciation sustained on such property is considered a personal expense and not deductible for income tax purposes.

Charles Ray In "Scrap Iron" Is T. & D. Attraction

"Scrap Iron," the attraction staring Charles Ray, a Bobby Vernon comedy and a Kenograph comprise the bill at the Richmond T. & D. Theater on today and tomorrow.

"Scrap Iron" is a screen version of Charles Van Loan's Saturday Evening Post story of the same name. The story is of a young man who was forced to become a boxer for a night, and abounds in heart interest.

The fight scene, which is the biggest incident in the picture, is one which critics declare stamps Ray as a directing genius. Handling a crowd is the test of any director, and the realistic way in which the five hundred men who occupy the spectators' seats in the fight arena respond to the events as they take place in the ring is said to be the height of realism. Lydia Knott, Vera Stedman, Tom Wilson and Tom O'Brien give excellent support in their various characterizations.

INLAND PORT OF MONTREAL: A GEOGRAPHICAL ANOMALY

Montreal's Busy Water Front

That the second largest port in America is five hundred miles from an ocean, may appear an impossibility to many. However, it is a fact. Montreal, the metropolis of Canada and the fifth city of North America is this port on the St. Lawrence River, 250 miles nearer to Liverpool than is New York.

The vast tonnage of grains grown on the western plains of Canada and the United States, a large proportion of which is shipped to Europe, has been the main factor in the development of the Port of Montreal which is today the principal American port for the export of grain. This grain is brought by train and lake boats to two mammoth elevators in Montreal and from them loaded into ocean freighters. Nine boats can be loaded simultaneously from these store-houses.

In order to handle the millions of bushels of grain expeditiously, this harbour is equipped with sixty miles of railway and twelve miles of wharfage. Harbor improvements have absorbed over thirty millions of dollars and additional improvements have been planned which will call for more millions. Today the harbor can accomodate one hundred steamships from 350 to 750 feet in length, providing depths of twenty-five to thirty-five feet of water. During 1921 twelve steamship lines used Montreal as a terminal and approximately one thousand vessels arrived at and sailed from this harbor.

Montreal has attained her prominence as a great port with the handicap of a seven months navigation season and during this past season exported 119,[illegible] bushels of grain. This was more than twice last year's volume and over forty-four millions more than the previous record year of 1914. Export of Canadian cattle is growing to such proportions that more bottoms are needed. About twenty additional trans-Atlantic passenger steamers are scheduled to use Montreal as their western port and additional cargo steamers are also expected to run between the Canadian metropolis and European ports.

This delightful French-Canadian city, whose site was selected by Champlain, and which has been popular with tourists because of its historical features, is fast becoming a great commercial center. American capital is being attracted for investment in industrial projects of many sorts.

6 Minute Ferry May Build Road Pinole To Crockett

Interest has been aroused over the possibility of the Six Minute Ferry Company of Vallejo, which operates between South Vallejo and Crockett, building a paved road from its terminal at Crockett through a low gap in the hills to connect with the Franklin Canyon highway between Pinole and Crockett. This route would tie up the ferry with the traffic coming from southern points through Franklin Canyon and would also provide a road around the Valona slide and cut out the high road along the bluffs at Selby.

The Lost Needle

THERE'S an old English play known as "Gammer Gurton's Needle." Its plot is woven around the loss of the family needle—no trifling misfortune in the days of old.

Today, in this era of ours, life is so rich in comforts that we seldom wonder how folks got along in the ancient world. And we sometimes forget what an important role advertising has played in making life pleasant and altogether livable.

Advertising has one of the leading parts in the eternal drama of dollars. To it is directly due much of the multiplication of products and services which has come about during the last half century.

It has smoothed the mechanics of existence—made life easier and more pleasant by bringing countless necessities—once considered luxuries—within our reach and into continuous use.

Think of this for a minute. You owe much to advertising.

And you miss much when you fail to read it!

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Occupying a dilapidated shack in the Silent City, a squatter settlement near Ithaca, New York, Polly Hopkins lives with her father, small Jerry, and an old woman, Granny Hope. On an adjacent farm, Oscar Bennett, prosperous farmer, is a neighbor. He is secretly married to Evelyn Robertson, supposedly wealthy girl of the neighborhood. Polly alone knows their secret. Marcus MacKenzie, who owns the ground the squatters occupy, is their determined enemy. Polly overhears a conversation between MacKenzie and a stranger, in which the former avows his intention of driving the squatters from his land. The stranger sympathizes with the squatters, and earns Polly's gratitude.

CHAPTER II.—Evelyn Robertson discovers from her mother that they are not rich, as she supposed, but practically living on the bounty of Robert Percival, Evelyn's cousin.

CHAPTER III.—Polly learns from Evelyn that the sympathetic stranger is Robert Percival. Evelyn charges Polly with a message to Bennett, telling him she can give him no more money, and urging him to be patient. She already bitterly regrets her infatuation with and marriage to the ignorant farmer.

"I said," she flung over her shoulder, "I were lookin' for my daddy. Good-by."

Evelyn Robertson was not interested in Jeremiah Hopkins. As far as she was concerned, the whole Silent City might be washed off into the waves and carried away. Her own troubles filled her mind. The shock of her mother's disclosure stunned her, for without the help she had expected, she could see no way out of Oscar Bennett's clutches. In the meantime, the squatter girl was her only means of communication.

"Wait, Pollyop, wait a minute! I came down just to speak to you."

Wheeling slowly around, Polly faced her.

"What do you want?" she asked in surly tones.

"Pollyop," ejaculated Evelyn, coming swiftly to her side, "I'm almost scared to death. My cousin, Bob—oh, you've got to help me again!"

Bob! Then the soldier in the uniform was Evelyn's cousin. Bob! That was the nicest name in all the world, a name fitted for the man who had dropped into the Silent City to help along the squatters. Suddenly her mood changed. She forgot Oscar Bennett and his odious words, forgot that the girl crying for her aid had allowed her mother to say dreadful things against her and Daddy Hopkins. If Evelyn were related to the soldier, then Polly Hopkins would do anything Miss Robertson asked of her.

"What do you want?" she repeated shyly, blushing.

"It's this," answered Evelyn. "Mr. MacKenzie's home—and my cousin came with him. My cousin, Robert Percival!"

"Is your cousin a handsome feller with long legs an' a face—"

Pollyop stopped for lack of words.

"Tell Oscar I Haven't Any Money! I Just Can't Get It Now! And Pollyop, Tell Him Too That He Mustn't Write Me Any More Letters."

How could she describe the fine, sympathetic countenance she had seen from the hut roof?

"Yes," Evelyn interjected, "Bob's awfully good-looking, and he's tall too. Now listen, Pollyop; you must go to Oscar again for me this very day—Oh, dear, he's so mean to me!"

Polly considered the pretty face a moment. She could not understand why the home-coming of the cousin and Old Marc should make Evelyn so flustered. With her steady eyes upon her she was studying over this question when Evelyn burst forth:

"Tell Oscar I haven't any money! I just can't get it now! And, Pollyop, tell him too that he mustn't write me any more letters. My mother—well, if she found one of them, she'd turn me out of the house."

Polly's mouth flew open. She could not conceive of a girl doing anything in the world bad enough to make her mother turn her out of her home.

"Lordy! Would she, now?" she gasped.

"My mother's proud," said Evelyn, in excuse. "You know that, Polly."

Certainly Polly knew it! Hadn't she ducked out of sight of the unsympathetic lady many a time when lurking near the Robertson home with a message from Oscar to Evelyn?

"I don't know what I will do, Polly," the other girl went on, "if you don't help me—and—some time I'll really do something for you."

A temptation to blurt out the words Marcus MacKenzie had spoken assailed the squatter girl; but Evelyn looked worried! Polly's heart was as soft as the velvet in her eyes when she came upon trouble of any kind.

"You've been good to Wee Jerry," she interposed gently. "Awful good. He 'most giggles his little life away when I bring him the goodies you send him."

"I'm going to do a lot for both of you," returned Evelyn impulsively, "and today I brought this bag of candy for the baby. Here! Take it! And you'll go to Oscar for me as soon as you can, won't you?"

Smiling, Polly slipped the package of sweets into her pocket. She could forgive anything against herself for the sake of seeing Wee Jerry smile and hearing him crow over the contents of the small bag.

"Yep," she agreed, "an' say all you tell me to. But what if he kicks up a row? He's gettin' awful pernickity, Oscar is!"

A sharp cry from Evelyn was followed by:

"Tell him he mustn't! Make him promise he won't! And—and, Pollyop, I'll tell you something else, if you'll promise never to tell."

"I never told anything yet, have I?" Pollyop protested in low, indignant tones.

"No one must ever know about Oscar and me," Evelyn began, still harping upon the great fear that obsessed her, "because—"

"Because of your ma," interrupted Polly. "Sure I know that!"

A slim hand was raised in partial protest.

"Mother's an awful worry to me sometimes, but it's not she altogether. But—but——"

"Then—then—it's your fine-lookin' cousin," came brokenly from Polly, during the pause in Miss Robertson's statement.

"Of course, I wouldn't have him know for anything," Evelyn nodded assent. "Oh, goodness, I might as well tell it and get it over. I love some one else, and he loves me, Pollyop. I want to be his wife more than I've ever wanted anything before. He's wealthy, dear, and I've got to marry him."

Polly's face gathered a shocked expression. How could she marry any one when she was already wedded to Oscar Bennett? By any law Polly knew of, a girl could not have two husbands at the same time. Even the squatters, in their careless way of living, did nothing like that.

"You can't tie up to no other man while you belong to Oscar, Miss Eve," she ventured gravely.

"Well, I know it; of course I know it," retorted Evelyn, resenting the censure in the other's tones; "but I've got to be free. I'm so frantic, I don't much care how. That's the way Oscar's got to help me! Anyway make him understand he's got to wait; he must be quiet and not bother me. Then come tonight, and let me know what he says. Will you, Polly?"

The squatter girl nodded. She would rather have been switched than see Oscar Bennett again.

"Yep," she assented. "I'll hunt him up late this afternoon and then hustle right over to you. I got to go now!"

For some moments after Evelyn left her, Polly watched the slim figure on the path to the woods. Then she suddenly remembered Marcus MacKenzie and without a backward glance hurried swiftly toward the south.

Meantime three squatters from the Silent City were in the Bad Man's ravine, dressing the fish they had netted the night before. One enormous man was seated on a flat rock, his bare feet almost touching the water as it hurried by to the lake. On his shoulders, with his legs wound tightly around the man's neck, sat a small boy, little more than a baby. He was shivering with cold, and, as the spring rain shot its drops upon his face, he lifted a small hand and brushed them away. Seemingly oblivious of the weight against his swarthy head, the man picked up a fish and contemplated it with a scowl. Then he proceeded to clean it deftly.

The silence was unbroken for a long time except by the rushing of the water, the gruesome running of the knives over the fish scales and a little whimper, now and then, from the child astride the man's neck.

The long race is an added scene in the screen version of "Black Beauty" prepared by Mr. and Mrs. George Randolph Chester from the world famous book by Anna Sewell. The original story left Black Beauty, rapidly recovering from the effects of his hardships as a cab horse, at the Blomefield home, near Squire Gordon's estate, Birtwick Hall. To that point the screen version adheres accurately and faithfully to the Sewell narrative in every detail. Mr. and Mrs. Chester have performed their difficult task with all reverence and devotion, and the wild race is added as a dramatic and spectacular climax to the great Vitagraph special production.

"Black Beauty" will be shown at the Macdonald Theater today and Saturday.

The motion picture version, while including all details of "Black Beauty" as written by Anna Sewell, as an autobiography of a horse, and never departing from story as originally published, tells also the "indoor history" of Squire Gordon, his lovely daughter, Jessie; Henry Blomefield and Black Beauty's many human friends and acquaintances. The leading human role is played by Jean Paige, who has been familiar with the ways of horses since childhood.

Racing for a greater prize than any purse ever posted at a track, Harry Blomefield rode Black Beauty cross-country against Jack Beckett on Lightning. Again and again the position of the racers changed, through many chance happenings and desperate risks taken by one and then the other of the riders. For Beckett, bankrupt and hounded by bailiffs, a fortune and a girl he desired depended upon the outcome of the race. Harry rode to save Jessie Gordon from a life of misery as the wife of a scoundrel.

Black Beauty knew well that the winning of the wild race was vitally important to his human friends, and he strained every nerve to the uttermost to catch and pass the flying thoroughbred ridden by Beckett. Lightning knew only that he was being cruelly beaten and spurred, and must run his best to avoid punishment.

Now on the rough road, now clearing stone walls and hedges to take short cuts across the fields, the terrific rate was run to a wildly exciting finish.

American Association For Recognition Of The Irish Republic

Despite the stormy weather The American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic held a well attended meeting on Wednesday night.

By vote of the Council the meeting nights were changed to the first and third Fridays of each month.

Jackie Coogan Is Coming To Town In Great Film

Jackie Koogan, favorite of juvenile movie fans, and side partner of Charlie Chaplin, is coming to Richmond soon in one of the biggest pictures he has made since his brilliant debut upon the silver sheet.

Jackie has done a great many good pictures, but "My Boy" is said to be a real knockout, and one wherein the progidy's naive genius is given wider play than in any that have gone before.

When "My Boy" was shown in one of the large down town picture houses in Chicago, the police of the nation's second city used drastic means to keep back the crowd that rushed at the entrance for admission.

"My Boy" will be shown at the Macdonald Theater on Thursday, February 16, and Manager Lane looks for record houses.

STRANGE CASE OF BLOOD POISONING

For about 8 months I was confined to the house and part of the time to my bed with a strange malady. My face and the upper parts of my body were fearfully swollen, my eyes being partially closed. Whenever I went out into the air my face and hands burned as though they were on fire. My skin itched so that I wanted to scratch and tear at myself continually. Also I had cross eyes from blood poisoning.

I treated with several physicians, who termed my trouble blood poisoning. None seemed to understand the case, and some were even frank enough to say that death alone could give me relief. Six weeks ago I read of the return from China of the renowned FONG WAN HERB SPECIALIST I immediately sent to him and began to drink the herb Tea. I cooked my own herbs at home. Now all the inflammation and swelling are gone. Everything is normal again and I am in perfect condition.

Club Mendelssohn Birthday Party Brilliant Event

Notwithstanding the gusty showers of sleet and rain yesterday a large crowd of ladies attended the birthday party of Club Mendelssohn in Richmond Clubhouse.

There were fourteen tables playing and the prize winners were: First, Mrs. W. W. Scott; second, Mrs. E. H. Markel; third, Mrs. Robert Osborne; fourth, Mrs. J. O. Ford; fifth, Mrs. Paisley; sixth, Mrs. Mary Wilson. The door prize was won by Mrs. J. C. Hitchcock.

At the close of the card games Mrs. Clinton Smith presented Miss Elizabeth Stiver, who played Rachmaninoff's "Polichinelle," delightfully and for an encore, "Butterfly," by Greig.

Refreshments were served by the following committee: Mesdames Burke Calfee, E. Parker and A. D. Jones.

Mrs. R. G. Lee, president of the club, was unavoidably prevented at the last moment from participating in this special anniversary party, having contracted pneumonia and gone on working for the affair when really ill.

A nice sum of money was netted for the scholarship fund of the club, which insures the tuition fees of a talented student of music.

In every way the afternoon was a success and was quite one of the most enjoyable events ever held in the Woman's Clubhouse.

Popular Bride Is Given Shower

Mrs. Ernest Roeder, who as Miss Dehlia Rainey, was one of the popular teachers at the Washington school prior to her marriage recently, was given a miscellaneous shower this week. Among those complimenting Mrs. Roeder were Mesdames T. G. Conn, J. F. Stiefvater, C. O. Bryant, W. H. Rickard, J. L. Rihn, J. W. Spencer, J. G. Snavely, E. T. Roeder and Irene Conn.

Mrs. Lee Ill, Baptist Ladies Postpone Meeting

On account of the stormy weather and the illness of Mrs. R. G. Lee, president, the Baptist Ladies' Aid was obliged to postpone their meeting, which was to have taken place at the home of Mrs. James Bly, on Montecito avenue on Wednesday. A few brave members succeeded in getting to the top of the hill and spent a pleasant social time with Mrs. Bly.

Eleanor Hart Giving Program

Richmond devotees of artistic and interpretative dance figures will have the opportunity this evening of seeing one of the city's own artists demonstrate the muse of Terpsichore.

Eleanor Hart, born in the heart of "superior California," being a native of Sacramento, and having lived in Richmond for twelve years, is as native to the heath as the golden poppy.

She is giving an elaborate entertainment here, and has assembled an ensemble that presages a program of remarkable merit. The public will see this sixteen year old girl in a dual role: dancer and director.

Curtain time, 8 sharp.

The place: Lincoln Auditorium.

The program:

1. Song, (Irish Jig) "Dublin Back to Dublin"....Carrie Ellsworth, Edith Kettlehut, Gladys Freeman, Vernice Otten.
2. Military Dance.....Carmelita Cunningham
3. Acrobatic Dance..Marjorie Wood
4. The Pilgrim, (Song by Tschaikowsky)....Miss Rosalie Harrison, Accompanist, Emil Esola.

Junior Richmond Club Make Plans For Dance Mar. 15

Plans for the annual dance of the Junior Richmond Club were made at the meeting of the Club on Wednesday afternoon. The affair will be held on March 15, and Miss Carmel Wilson will have charge of the program and Miss Elverda Milnes of the invitations committee.

A special entertainment for the mothers of the members will be given towards the middle of March with the following committee chairmen: Decorations, Miss Leda Ogborn; entertainment, Geraldine Rock; place cards, Doris Lincoln; refreshments, Elverda Milnes.

Grace Lufkin will be in charge of next week's program. At the meeting this week Miss Jo Fuller, president, gave an interesting talk on a recent trip to Butte county.

HOW THEY GET THAT WAY

"What's the connection between long hair on a man and eccentricity?" asked Williams.

HOW CAN WE MAKE MONEY?

That is the problem that is puzzling us all. We must make money, and save it, for old age and the proverbial "rainy day," and there are few ways of doing it. Merchandising is not doing it to any extent, manufacturing costs millions and is beyond the reach of the average individual. Gold mining and oil are the only two channels offering big inducements, and these are good if judgment and due care is taken.

Experts Pick Winner

Twenty-five business men and citizens of Richmond have combined to open up what has every appearance of a wonderful gold mine in Sierra County, at Allegheny, where some of California's most famous gold producing mines are located, which district has been picked by the mining experts of the Clark interest, the best in the world, as being worthy of investment and development.

Adjoining the property of this Richmond company, the Sierra Gold Mining Company, is the now famous Kate Hardy mine, on the same quartz ledge, and the Hardy management all say that whatever they have the Richmond company also has and that it cannot be otherwise, the only difference being that one is developed and the other is not, but men are now at work opening it up and have already encountered pay ore.

Unusual Opportunity

There is an opportunity for twenty-five more men to "get in on the ground floor" in this home gold mining proposition, for the purpose of obtaining needed power plant and machinery, and those who have investigated consider it the chance of a lifetime to realize big and reasonably quick profits.

After the list is filled to the amount of fifty, no more can get in at all, as it is proposed to keep this a close corporation, only disposing of enough of the stock to provide the needed equipment.

Wonderful Gold Ore Found

Dispatches this week from Nevada City state in the Sacramento Bee and the San Francisco Examiner that the Kate Hardy mine at Allegheny is in "veritable bonanza gold ore, a ledge of very high grade having been opened for hundreds of feet, extending from surface to unknown depth, running into big sums per ton in gold values."

Expect Quick Returns

This is great news to the Richmond company, which expects to break into the same high grade ore by May next, and possibly any day, as indications of it are most favorable right now.

Take A Look At The Gold

For full particulars of this opportunity to "Make Money," inquire at the company's office, Room 6, Schram building (over the Big Store), where samples of the wondrous Hardy gold ore can be seen, printed literature obtained and full details given by George MacPherson, local fiscal agent. It costs nothing to investigate and a small sum invested, payable in monthly installments, may make you comfortably well off. The company is officered by Richmond men of high standing for experience, knowledge, ability and integrity.
